OVW Grants to Indian Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program (CFDA 16.587)

Overview

About the Office on Violence Against Women

The Office on Violence Against Women (OVW) is a component of the United States Department of Justice (DOJ). Created in 1995, OVW implements the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) and subsequent legislation and provides national leadership against domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault and stalking. Since its inception, OVW has launched a multifaceted approach to responding to these crimes. By forging State, local and tribal partnerships among police, prosecutors, the judiciary, victim advocates, health care providers, faith leaders, and others, OVW grants help provide victims with the protection and services they need to pursue safe and healthy lives and enable communities to hold offenders accountable.

About the OVW Grants to Indian Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program

Many studies have shown that Alaska Native and American Indian women are more likely to experience sexual assault and domestic violence than are women from other racial or ethnic groups. Violence committed against Alaska Native and American Indian women can be deadly. From 1979-1992, homicide was the third leading cause of death for Indian women age 15 to 34. About 75% of these women were killed by a family member or someone that they knew.<sup>1</sup>

Indian tribal governments may not have the resources in place to address violence committed against Indian women as a criminal offense. Tribes may not have police officers, prosecutors, courts, or judges. Tribes that do have police officers, prosecutors, courts, and judges may need training on the special needs of women who are the victims of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, and stalking. They may also need training on how they can hold offenders responsible for their violent behavior. Indian women who are victims of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, or stalking may need help with locating emergency shelter and transitional or temporary housing. The children of victims may also need counseling to deal with the violence that they have witnessed. Tribes may lack the resources to provide assistance to victims and their children.

The Grants to Indian Tribal Governments Program (Tribal Governments Program) was created in Title IX of the Violence Against Women Act of 2005. The Tribal Governments Program is designed to fulfill the three goals of Title IX: (1) to decrease the number of violent crimes committed against Indian women; (2) to help Indian tribes use their independent authority to respond to crimes of violence against Indian women; and (3) to make sure that people who commit violent crimes against Indian women are held responsible for their actions.<sup>2</sup> The Violence Against Women Act of 2005 also created a new grant program specifically designed to address the needs of Indian women who are victims of sexual assault. The purpose of the Tribal Sexual Assault Services Program is to help tribes establish, maintain, and expand programs and projects to directly assist victims of sexual assault.<sup>3</sup>

OVW made its first awards under the Tribal Governments Program in Federal Fiscal Year 2007, but did not receive appropriated funds from Congress to make grant awards under the Tribal Sexual Assault Services Program until Federal Fiscal Year 2008. Starting with Federal Fiscal Year 2009, OVW will combine consideration of eligible tribal government applicants for both types of funding, as appropriate, under a single solicitation for the Grants to Indian Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program (Tribal Governments Program). The new combined solicitation will streamline access to OVW grant funding for tribes and will also increase the level of resources that tribal communities can use to combat the sexual assault of Indian women.

Deadline: Letter of Intent

If you intend to apply for Federal Fiscal Year 2009 funding under this program, you are encouraged to submit a letter stating that you intend to apply for funding. The letter will not obligate you to submit an application. (Please see the Sample Letter of Intent in Appendix A of A Guide to Understanding the FY 2009 Grants to Indian Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program.) The letter should be submitted to OVW by February 24, 2009. You may send the letter to OVW at OVW.VAIW@usdoj.gov. OVW will use these letters to predict the number of peer review panels needed to review the applications. You can still submit an application for funding if you do not submit a Letter of Intent.

Deadline: Registration

The Grants.gov registration deadline is February 24, 2009. You need to register with Grants.gov only once. OVW strongly encourages you to start the registration process as early as possible. It may take 3-5 business days to have your registration validated and to receive a password if this is your first time registering. If your registration is delayed, you may not be able to submit your application online by the due date. There are three steps that you must complete before you are able to register: 1) register with Central Contractor Registry (CCR), 2) obtain permission to act as an Authorized Organization Representative (AOR) in your organization, and 3) register yourself as an (AOR). For more information, go to www.grants.gov. Note: Your CCR registration must be renewed once a year. Failure to renew your CCR registration will prohibit submission of a grant application through Grants.gov.

Pre-Application Workshops

This year OVW has partnered with ACKCO, Incorporated (ACKCO) to host a series of four free regional pre-application workshops for the FY 2009 Grants to Indian Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program. The workshops are designed to provide potential applicants to the program with a comprehensive overview of the grant program requirements and application process. The workshops will also increase the capacity of individual tribal governments to successfully prepare a competitive application for the Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program.

Workshop Cost: The workshops are being offered free of charge to Indian tribal governments. Workshop participants are responsible for paying their own travel cost to attend the workshops. Indian tribal governments that currently receive OVW grant funding may use their travel funds to cover the cost of sending one representative to one of the workshops.

There are a limited number of travel scholarships available for each workshop. Travel scholarships will be awarded to Indian tribal governments that do not currently receive OVW grant funding on a first come, first served basis.

Contact Kathleen Telmont at ACKCO at either (800) 525-2859, Ext. 153, or kathleen.telmont@ackco.com for more information on how to obtain a scholarship for one of the workshops.

Workshop Schedule: The dates and locations for the workshops are as follows:

Jan. 27-29, 2009: Albuquerque, NM

Feb. 3-5, 2009: Denver, CO

Feb. 10-12, 2009: Anchorage, AK

NOTE: Participation in the workshop is limited to individuals who are employed by either an individual Indian tribal government or a consortium of Indian tribal governments. If your tribe has hired, or will hire, a consultant to prepare a grant application on its behalf, OVW will accept the consultant's registration only if it is supported by a letter on official letterhead signed by a tribal official. Professional grant writers who have not been hired by an individual tribal government or a tribal consortium will not be allowed to register or attend one of the workshops.

Registration Instructions: Indian tribal governments that are interested in attending one of the grant-writing workshops should contact ACKCO using the information supplied above.

Enrollment in the workshops is limited to one representative per tribe, and each workshop can accommodate no more than 50 participants. You are encouraged to contact ACKCO as soon as possible to reserve a space in the workshop of your choice.

Deadline: Application

The due date for applying for funding under this announcement is 8:00 p.m. e.t. on March 3, 2009. In addition, applicants must send a hard copy via an overnight delivery method, dated by March 3, 2009. See pages 9-10 of A Guide to Understanding the FY 2009 Grants to Indian Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program for detailed instructions on this requirement.

Eligibility

It is very important that applicants review this information carefully. Applications that are submitted by non-eligible applicants will be removed from further consideration during an initial review process.

Eligible applicants for the Grants to Indian Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program are limited to Federally recognized Indian Tribes. Federally-recognized Indian tribes have three options when preparing an application under this program:

- An individual Federally-recognized Indian tribe can submit its own application; or
- An individual Federally-recognized Indian tribe can identify an agency or organization to apply for funds on its behalf as the tribe's authorized designee; or
- Two or more Federally-recognized Indian tribes can submit an application as a tribal consortium.

Applications from the authorized designee of a Federally recognized Indian tribe or from a tribal consortium must include a resolution from the tribal communities that will be served by the proposed project. (Please see Appendix E of A Guide to Understanding the FY 2009 Grants to Indian Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program for more information about tribal resolutions.)

An application received from an individual Federally recognized Indian tribe, an authorized designee of a Federally recognized Indian tribe, or a tribal consortium, must also satisfy two other requirements in order to be eligible for Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program funding:

(1) Program Scope

You must submit a proposal that includes at least one of the activities that is listed on page 8 of this solicitation. Your application cannot be considered for funding unless it includes at least one of the activities from the list.

(2) Collaboration Requirement

You must show that your proposed project will be implemented with help from a specific organization or group of people that have experience in helping victims of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, or stalking. (Please see pages 11-13 of A Guide to Understanding the FY 2009 Grants to Indian Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program for more detailed information.) There are three ways to satisfy this requirement:

- Implementing your project with help from a nonprofit, nongovernmental Indian victim services provider organization, including faith-based and other community organizations, in the tribal or local community, such as a domestic violence shelter program or a rape crisis center; or
- Implementing your project with help from a nonprofit, nongovernmental tribal domestic violence or sexual assault coalition, including faith-based and other community coalitions, if there is one in your community; or
- Implementing your project with help from an advisory committee made up of women from the tribal community that will be served by the proposed project.

Each eligible applicant must submit a Letter of Support from its required collaborative partner. More details about the contents of the letter and how it will be evaluated can be found on pages 20-21 of this solicitation. (Please see Appendix D of the A Guide to Understanding the FY 2008 Grants to Indian Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program for a sample Letter of Support.)

Some applicants may be qualified to submit a letter of exemption from the collaboration requirement. If you are a nonprofit, nongovernmental Indian victim services organization, or a nonprofit tribal domestic violence or sexual assault coalition that is acting as the authorized designee of a tribe, then you must submit a Letter of Exemption instead of a Letter of Support. See pages 21-22 of this solicitation for details about the content of the letter and how it will be evaluated. (Please see Appendix D of A Guide to Understanding the FY 2009 Grants to Indian Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program for a sample Letter of Exemption.)

Funding to Faith-Based and Community Organizations

Consistent with President George W. Bush's Executive Order 13279, dated December 12, 2002, and 28 C.F.R. Part 38, it is DOJ policy that faith-based and community organizations that statutorily qualify as eligible applicants under DOJ programs are invited and encouraged to apply for assistance awards to fund eligible grant activities. Faith-based and community organizations will be considered for awards on the same basis as other eligible applicants and, if they receive assistance awards, will be treated on an equal basis with all other grantees in the administration of such awards. No eligible applicant or grantee will be discriminated for or against on the basis of its religious character or affiliation, religious name, or the religious composition of its board of directors or persons working in the organization.

Faith-based organizations receiving DOJ assistance awards retain their independence and do not lose or have to modify their religious identity (e.g., removing religious symbols) to receive assistance awards. DOJ grant funds, however, may not be used to fund any inherently religious activity, such as prayer or worship. Inherently religious activity is permissible, although it cannot occur during an activity funded with DOJ grant funds; rather, such religious activity must be separate in time or place from the DOJ-funded program. Further, participation in such activity by individuals receiving services must be voluntary. Programs funded by DOJ are not permitted to discriminate in the provision of services on the basis of a beneficiary's religion.

If the applicant organization is a faith-based organization that makes hiring decisions on the basis of religious belief, it may be entitled, under the Religious Freedom Restoration Act, 42 U.S.C. § 2000bb, to receive Federal funds and yet maintain that hiring practice, even if the law creating the funding program contains a general ban on religious discrimination in employment. For the circumstances under which this may occur, and the certifications that may be required, please see http://www.ojp.usdoj.gov/funding/other\_requirements.htm.

Applicants are encouraged to review the Civil Rights Compliance section at http://www.ojp.usdoj.gov/funding/other\_requirements.htm.

(Please see Appendix A for more information on faith-based and community organizations.)

OVW Grants to Indian Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program—Specific Information

What Type of Applicant is My Tribe?

There are two types of applicants for the Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program:

New Applicants: A tribe, tribal consortium, or authorized designee that has never before received funding from OVW, or a tribe or organization that has received OVW grant funding in the past, but that does not currently have an active OVW grant award.

Current Grantees: Any tribe or organization that currently has at least one active grant award from any OVW grant program may be eligible to submit an application for continuation funding. For purposes of the FY 2009 Tribal Governments Program, there are three types of current grantees:

- FY 2007 Tribal Governments Program Grantees: Current grantees who received an FY 2007 Tribal Governments Program award can apply for FY 2009 Tribal Governments Program funding. However, a FY 2007 OVW award recipient can only apply for FY 2009 Tribal Governments Program funding to support activities that are different and distinct from the activities supported by their FY 2007 grant award. See Appendix B for details.
- FY 2008 Tribal Governments Program Grantees: Are generally prohibited from applying for FY 2009 Tribal Governments Program funding. Exceptions will be made for: (1) FY 2006 STOP Violence Against Indian Women Program grantees that received FY 2007 Tribal Governments Program funding, and (2) FY 2008 Tribal Governments Program grantees that received a 12- month grant award. See Appendix B for details.
- STOP Violence Against Indian Women Program Grantees: Please see Appendix B for a list of current STOP Violence Against Indian Women Program grantees that are eligible to apply for FY 2009 Tribal Governments Program funding.
- Other OVW Tribal Grantees: If your tribe currently receives a grant award from an OVW grant program other than the STOP Violence Against Indian Women Program or the Tribal Governments Program, you may be eligible to apply for FY 2009 Tribal Governments Program funding to continue or enhance your current grant-funded activities. See Appendix B for details.

Current grantees are encouraged to contact the Tribal Unit at OVW if they have questions about their eligibility to apply for FY 2009 Tribal Governments Program funding.

Availability of Funds

All awards are subject to the availability of appropriated funds and any modifications or additional requirements that may be imposed by law.

Award Period

The award period for these grants will be 36 months. All budgets must reflect 36 months of project activity, and the total “estimated funding” (block 15) on the SF-424 must reflect 36 months.

Award Amounts

New applicants may apply for grant awards of up to $450,000. Current grantees are encouraged to carefully consider the amount of funding that is necessary to continue or enhance their current OVW-funded projects. Requests for continuation funding must be reasonable. Due to limited funding, it is unlikely that OVW will make continuation awards in excess of $900,000.

OVW has the discretion to make grants for greater or lesser amounts than requested and to negotiate the scope of work and budget with applicants prior to award of a grant.

Program Scope

In order to receive funding, your tribe, tribal consortium, or authorized designee must propose to do at least one of the activities listed below. You do not have to propose more than one of the activities, but you can if you feel that you can accomplish more than one activity during the award period.

OVW staff will read each application as part of the internal review process. If your application proposes an activity that is not on the list at all, or if your application proposes an activity that is only partially on the list, then up to 25 points may be deducted from the final score for your application. If your application does not propose any of the activities on the list then it will be removed from funding consideration.

Statutory Program Purposes

Tribal governments can use Tribal Governments and Sexual Services Program funds to do the following:

- Establish, maintain, and expand programs and projects to assist victims of sexual assault by providing intervention, advocacy, accompaniment, support services and related assistance.
- Develop and enhance effective plans for the tribal government to reduce violent crimes against Indian women and help keep them safe. The plans to reduce the violence and keep Indian women safe can be based on tribal law and customs.
- Increase the ability of the tribal government to respond to domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, and stalking committed against Indian women.
- Strengthen the tribal criminal justice system's ability to get involved with stopping violence against Indian women. This may include improving the ability of tribal law enforcement officers, prosecutors, judges and other court staff, probation officers, and the staff at tribal jails to become involved in stopping violence against Indian women.
- Improve services that are available to help Indian women who are victims of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, and stalking.
- Work with the community to create education and prevention campaigns that are designed to inform members of the tribal community about domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, and stalking programs, and that also increase the community's awareness about the needs of children who have witnessed domestic violence.
- Provide supervised visitation and safe exchange programs that allow children to visit with their non-custodial parent in cases where one parent has committed an act of domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking against the other. In cases where the court has ordered that the non-custodial parent have supervised visitation with the child, the program should create a place where that parent can have a supervised visit with the child. If the court has not ordered supervised visitation, then the program should offer a safe, neutral place for the non-custodial parent of the child to pick the child up and return the child for unsupervised visitation. A supervised visitation and safe exchange program must have appropriate security measures, policies, and procedures so that victims and their children are safe.
- Provide transitional housing assistance for victims of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, or stalking. The assistance provided to victims may include money for rent, utilities, a security deposit, or other minor costs related to moving into transitional housing. A transitional housing assistance program may also offer victims support and services necessary to help the victim locate and secure permanent housing.

- Provide legal advice and representation to victims of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, or stalking who need assistance with legal issues that are caused by the abuse that they have suffered. The legal assistance should be provided at minimal or no cost to the victim.

For specific examples of what types of activities may be funded under each of the program purpose areas, please see pages 18-21 of the A Guide to Understanding the FY 2009 Grants to Indian Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program.

Program Priority Area: Increasing Services to Victims of Sexual Assault

According to a December 2004 study by the Bureau of Justice Statistics, American Indian women are twice as likely to experience sexual assault crimes compared to women of all other races.<sup>4</sup> Many tribal governments do not have employees who have received special training on how to advocate on behalf of sexual assault victims, and very few offer counseling or support to victims of sexual assault. The availability of specially trained staff who understand the unique needs of victims of sexual assault can encourage more victims of sexual assault to seek services. (See pages 6-8 of A Guide to Understanding the FY 2009 Grants to Indian Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program for more information.)

OVW is committed to expanding the availability of direct services and advocacy to victims of sexual assault. All applicants for FY 2009 Tribal Governments Program funding are strongly encouraged to consider requesting funding to hire a victim advocate to provide direct services to victims of sexual assault. Applicants who submit applications that include requests for funding to hire dedicated staff to provide culturally appropriate and confidential advocacy and support to victims of sexual assault will receive the highest priority for funding.

OVW also recognizes that hiring dedicated victim services staff is only part of the solution to the problem of sexual assault in Indian communities. Tribal governments also need to increase their capacity to address sexual assault in a meaningful way. OVW also encourages all applicants to consider including one or more of the following activities in their applications for funding:

- Training for tribal victim advocates, law enforcement, prosecutors, judges and other tribal government personnel on how to appropriately respond to sexual assault.
- Sexual Assault Forensic Nurse Examiner (SANE) certification training for nurses or other medical professionals.
- Developing sexual assault response protocols for law enforcement, prosecutors, victim advocates, and health care facilities.

Activities that May Compromise Victim Safety

The following is a list of activities that have been found either to decrease victim safety or to allow offenders to escape responsibility for their actions. (Please see pages 22-25 of A Guide to Understanding the FY 2008 Grants to Indian Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program for a detailed explanation about why these specific activities have been prohibited). OVW strongly encourages you not to include these activities in your application for funding:

- Offering criminal defendants who have been charged with crimes related to domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault or stalking the option to avoid prosecution by agreeing to participate in another type of program (such as a drug court), or agreeing not to commit another crime for a specific period of time;
- Ordering victims and offenders to attend mandatory couples counseling or mediation;
- Operating domestic violence batterer intervention programs that are not court-ordered or court-monitored;
- Operating anger management classes instead of batterer intervention programs;
- Using procedures that would force victims of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, or stalking to testify against their abusers;
- Requiring victims of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, or stalking to file for a protection order or file criminal charges against their abuser as a condition for receiving services;
- Using practices or procedures that fail to protect the confidentiality of victims; and
- Referring victims to Child Protection Services solely for failure to protect their minor child from witnessing domestic violence.

OVW staff will read each application as part of the internal review process. Other experts will also read the applications as part of the external peer review process. If OVW or one of the peer review experts concludes that your application contains one or more activities that might compromise victim safety, then you may receive a reduction in the overall score for your application.

Unallowable Activities

There are some activities that Tribal Governments Program funds may not be used to support. The following activities are prohibited:

- Lobbying or lobbying-related activities, including the development and/or distribution of materials and travel to a state or national meeting for the sole purpose of lobbying (at any level of Federal, state, local or tribal government);
- Fundraising;
- Research projects;
- Investigating, prosecuting, or providing services for child victims of rape, sexual assault, or stalking that are not related to a domestic violence incident; and
- Making physical modifications to a building, including minor renovations.

You will be asked to remove any activities that are on either of the lists above from your application if it is selected for funding.

Performance Measures

To assist in fulfilling DOJ's responsibilities under the Government Performance and Results Act (GPRA), Pub. L. No. 103-62, applicants who receive funding under this solicitation must provide data that measures the results of their work. Performance measures for this solicitation are as follows:

Objective	Performance Measures	Data Grantee Provides
Strengthen partnerships for safer communities and enhance the Nation's capacity to prevent, solve, and control crime.	1) The number and percentage of arrests relative to the number of police responses to domestic violence incidents; 2) The number of tribes receiving grant funding; and 3) The number of victims receiving requested services.	This information will be provided to OVW through semi-annual progress report forms. Please see http://muskie.usm.maine.edu/vawamei/formtribgovt.htm for a sample form.

How to Apply

DOJ is participating in the e-Government initiative, one of 25 initiatives included in the President's Management Agenda. B. Abstract/Proposal Summary (No more than one page)

The Abstract/Proposal Summary should provide a short and accurate summary of your proposed project including its goals and objectives. Please do not summarize past accomplishments in this section.

The Abstract/Proposal Summary must not be submitted on the same page as the Summary Data Sheet.

C. Status of the Current Project

This section should be completed only if you are a current grantee. This section will be read and evaluated by OVW staff only. Current grantees that do not include this section will receive a 25- point deduction from the final score for their application. Current grantees may also lose up to 25 points from their final score if they do not satisfy the evaluation criteria in this section.

This section does not count toward the 25 pages that are allowed for the Narrative. The page limitations for this section are as follows:

Continuation Funding for One OVW Grant Award: If you are seeking continuation funding for only one current OVW grant award, then you must limit this section to no more than five (5) pages total.

Continuation Funding for More than One OVW Grant Award: If you are seeking continuation funding for more than one OVW grant award, then you must provide the following information for each individual grant award. You must limit the information presented to no more than four (4) pages for each grant award.

Current grantees should use this section to state what has been done with previous OVW grant award funding, including the following information:

- A list of the grant award number(s) for each previous OVW grant award for which you are seeking continuation funding;
- A list of the goals and objectives from each of your previous OVW grant award(s) and a statement about whether or not each of those goals and objectives has been accomplished;

You must include a timeline of when you expect to finish spending the balance. You must also state whether or not you think that you will need additional time to finish spending the funds.
- A list of all OVW-sponsored technical assistance events attended during the most recent project period of the current award, including the title, location and date(s) of each.

This section should be as clear and to the point as possible.

Additionally, current projects will be rated by OVW to determine whether or not your tribe, tribal consortium, or authorized designee:

- Submitted progress reports that show that the current project has been effective. The review will look at whether or not your tribe or organization has made progress towards meeting the goals and objectives of its previous award, and whether or not the project has progressed according to the timeline in its original grant application. OVW will also consider information obtained from a monitoring visit if OVW conducted an on-site monitoring visit with your tribe or organization during the award period;
- Used grant funds to pay for activities or expenses that are not allowable;
- Satisfied all of the special conditions of its current grant award agreement;
- Submitted all of its required financial and programmatic reports on time;
- Shown a commitment to continuing to pay for its existing project if the tribe or organization does not receive any more Federal funds to pay for it;
- Attended all of the mandatory training conferences that are required by the special conditions of its grant award(s);
- Received final approval on the budgets for each of its United States Department of Justice grant awards;
- Whether the grantee has closed prior OVW grant awards in a timely manner;
- Submitted its required OMB Circular A-133 audit to the Federal Audit Clearinghouse on time (if applicable); and
- Spent the funds from its grant award(s) in a timely manner.

Applicants that currently receive funding under other OVW programs will also be evaluated for their performance under those programs.

Your tribe, tribal consortium, or authorized designee may not be considered for Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program funding if it has not:

- Met the grant deadlines of each of its current OVW grant awards;
- Made progress with expending the funds from its current OVW grant awards;
- Complied with Office of Justice Programs' financial requirements;
- Complied with each of the special conditions of any previous OVW grant award;
- Submitted its required A-133 Audit to the Federal Audit Clearinghouse on time (if applicable); or
- Resolved all audit findings from an Office of the Chief Financial Officer monitoring visit, or an audit conducted by the United States Department of Justice's Office of the Inspector General.

E. What Will Be Done (40 points)

This section should provide detailed information about how you will address the problems that were identified in the Purpose of the Application section. In the What Will Be Done section, you should briefly:

- Identify the goals and objectives of the proposed project. You should also provide details about the specific tasks and activities that would be necessary to accomplish each goal and objective;
- Provide a detailed timeline for the completion of the goals and objectives; and
- Identify any products that will be created with grant funding (such as, brochures, posters, Web sites, training curricula, etc.), and describe how the products could benefit other jurisdictions.

If you are proposing to use grant funds to pay for technology (such as security systems, GPS monitoring devices, hotlines, and databases) to assist you with addressing violence against women, you should explain how you plan to address any victim safety concerns that may arise from the use of the technology, such as protecting victim confidentiality, helping victims create safety plans, and seeking informed consent from victims and offenders.

F. Who Will Implement the Project (10 points)

In this section, you should clearly identify each agency or organization that will be involved with developing and implementing the proposed project. Please briefly describe the following:

- The name of each agency, organization, or independent consultant that will be involved with implementing the project;

You should submit copies of resumes and position descriptions for each position that will be supported by grant funds. These documents should be submitted as part of the attachments for the application.

G. Sustainability Plan (5 points)

The Tribal Governments Program is a competitive award program. You are not guaranteed to receive continuation funding for your project in the future if you are selected to receive an award in Federal Fiscal Year 2009. You must include a plan in your application that explains how the tribe will pay for the program if it does not receive any future funding from the Grants to Indian Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program. The plan must include sound strategies for preserving the project on a long-term basis, and in it you must demonstrate that you have the capacity and the commitment to sustaining the project on a long-term basis.

The plan will be scored based on whether it includes reasonable and realistic plans to continue to pay for the project in the future. Continuation or supplemental funding is not guaranteed; applicants are always encouraged to seek additional means of support to sustain their current projects.

Budget Detail Worksheet and Narrative (Total 15 Points)

Each application must include a detailed budget and budget narrative for the project. This will be submitted as an attachment in Grants.gov. The budget must be complete, reasonable, and cost-effective in relation to the proposed project. The budget should clearly show how each item of cost was calculated. It should cover the cost of all components of the project. There must be a clear link between the activities proposed in the Project Narrative and the items included in the budget section. The budget should include only those activities, products, and resources that are necessary for project implementation and discussed in the Project Narrative.

You must fairly compensate each agency, organization, or independent consultant that will be working on the project. This means that you must pay them for their time spent working on the project, and pay for their travel costs if they must travel to work on the project. The budget must include compensation for all services provided by project partners, including nonprofit, nongovernmental Indian victim services programs and tribal domestic violence or sexual assault coalitions.

Budget Limits

New applicants may apply for grant awards of up to $450,000. Current grantees are encouraged to carefully consider the amount of funding that is necessary to continue or enhance their current OVW-funded projects. Requests for continuation funding must be reasonable. Due to limited funding, it is unlikely that OVW will make continuation awards in excess of $900,000.

OVW has the discretion to make grants for greater or lesser amounts than requested and to negotiate the scope of work and budget with applicants prior to award of a grant.

Budget Requirements

The following is a short list of budgetary guidelines:

- You are strongly discouraged from requesting consultant rates in excess of $450 per day.
- You may not allocate any grant funds for building renovations. This includes such seemingly minor activities as painting or carpeting.
- You may not use any OVW funds for conducting research. However, you can budget up to 1% of the total budget to pay for activities related to measuring the effectiveness of the grant-funded project. For example, funds may be used to conduct before and after testing of training recipients, or to conduct victim satisfaction surveys. You cannot use any personal information that may allow someone to identify a victim or training participant when you collect, analyze, or give out information related to the testing or survey results.
- All applicants are required to allocate funds in the amount of $20,000 (applicants from Alaska should allocate $25,000 to account for higher travel costs) to support travel costs associated with technical assistance and capacity-building activities sponsored by OVW-designated technical assistance providers.
  - Travel costs for staff or employees of your tribe or organization must be properly itemized in the “Travel” Category. Travel costs for consultants, or the staff or employees of your partner organization(s), must be properly itemized under the “Consultant Travel” sub-category.
  - If your application is selected for funding, and you did not include the required set-aside amount, you will not receive additional funds for this purpose. You will be required to adjust your budget so that the required amount of funding is included in your budget for OVW training and technical assistance.
  - You must provide an estimated breakdown for the set-aside amount (include the number of trips, number of travelers, airfare or mileage, lodging, per diem, etc.).

- These funds are to be used only for OVW-designated technical assistance unless otherwise approved by OVW.
  - Any training and TA funds not used by the end of the grant period may not be reprogrammed and must be returned to OVW.
  - Travel funds should be used to support travel by all partners, including nonprofit, nongovernmental victim services providers or tribal domestic violence or sexual assault coalitions.
  - You may not budget funds to attend any non-OVW sponsored training or technical assistance events. If your application is selected for funding you will be able to use funds from the required OVW travel set-aside to attend non-OVW sponsored training and technical assistance events so long as you obtain prior permission to do so from OVW.
- You are also encouraged to include funds in their budgets to attend Financial Management Training Seminars sponsored by the OJP's Office of the Chief Financial Officer. These seminars instruct participants in the financial administration of OJP and OVW formula and discretionary grant programs. A schedule listing the financial training seminars is available at http://www.ojp.usdoj.gov/training/fmts\_general.htm.
  - You must provide total number of calls for assistance for domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault and stalking that your law enforcement agency received in the previous 12 months in the Purpose of the Application section if you plan to request personnel and fringe benefits for law enforcement officers.
  - You may not use grant funds to pay stipends or any other type of compensation to members of your advisory committee; however, you can use grant funds to offer transportation assistance such as mileage reimbursement to members of the committee.
  - A Sample Budget Detail Worksheet is available in Appendix B of A Guide to Understanding the FY 2009 Grants to Indian Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program.
  - Your budget and budget narrative should be submitted online at Grants.gov as one attachment. Your budget must be easy to read and legible.
  - When preparing your budget, please use the Budget Detail Worksheet as a guide and be sure to include all necessary budget categories. The budget should clearly describe the proposed amounts and uses of grant funds for the duration of the grant period and how the amounts of the specific budget items were determined.

Letter of Support (Total 20 points)

You are required to submit a letter of support from your nonprofit partner. If you plan to satisfy the partnership requirement by partnering with an advisory committee of women from the tribal community that will be served by the proposed project, you must also submit a single letter of support.

If your tribe or tribal consortium will satisfy the partnership requirement by partnering with an advisory committee comprised of women from the community that will be served by the proposed project, then the letter of support should:

- Specify whether or not any of the committee members are survivors of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, or stalking;
- Specify whether or not any of the committee members have experience in providing services to Alaska Native or American Indian victims of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, or stalking;
- Provide specific details about the role that the committee has played in creating the application for funding; and
- Provide specific details about how often the committee will meet and what role the committee will play in developing and implementing the proposed project.

The single letter of support should be signed and dated by each committee member.

Letter of Exemption (Total 20 Points)

If you are a nonprofit, nongovernmental Indian victim services agency or a nonprofit tribal domestic violence or sexual assault coalition that is submitting an application as the authorized designee of a tribal government, then you may submit a Letter of Exemption instead of a Letter of Support. - A statement about the process that will be used to make sure that the project is meeting the needs of the women of the tribal community that will be served by the project.

Note: Applicants may submit a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) as an attachment to support their application, but an MOU cannot be used to replace the required Letter of Support or Letter of Exemption. Applications submitted without the required Letter of Support or Letter of Exemption will be considered incomplete and may be removed from further consideration for funding.

Letter of Nonsupplanting

Applicants must submit a letter to OVW's Director, certifying that Federal funds will not be used to supplant State or local funds should a grant award be made. Please refer to Appendix C of the A Guide to Understanding the FY 2009 Grants to Indian Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program for a sample letter.

Financial Capability Questionnaire

If your organization is a nonprofit, nongovernmental organization, and you have never received funding from OVW or OJP before, or you have not received funding within the last three years, then you must complete a Financial Capability Questionnaire. The form can be found at http://www.ojp.usdoj.gov/funding/forms/financial\_capability.pdf. In addition, be sure to submit your organization's current year's audit report with the Financial Capability Questionnaire.

Review Process

All applications will be subject to internal review by OVW staff and peer review and will be scored according to the criteria set forth in this solicitation. If the application fails to meet the criteria listed below for the initial internal review, the application will not receive further consideration. If applications that are partially beyond the scope of the program are sent to formal peer review, only those sections of the application that are within scope will be reviewed. Criteria for the initial internal review include the following:

- Whether the application is complete;
- Whether the proposed activities are within the scope of the program (see pages 9-10);
- Whether all statutory eligibility criteria are met (see pages 5-7);
- Whether the application proposes significant activities that may compromise victim safety (see pages 10-11); and
- Whether the proposed budget is within the established limits (see page 19).

In addition, applications for continuation funding will be reviewed for prior compliance with Program and Office requirements and the status of current grant-funded activities. (See pages 16-17 for further details on criteria for this review.) Applicants with an OVW grant history that failed to meet grant deadlines, did not comply with Office of Justice Programs' (OJP) financial requirements, or did not comply with special conditions from previous grants, may not be considered for funding.

OVW is committed to ensuring a competitive and standardized process for awarding grants. External peer reviewers will be reviewing the applications submitted under this solicitation. An external reviewer is an expert in the field of the subject matter of a given solicitation who is NOT a DOJ employee. Applications will be screened initially to determine whether the applicant meets all eligibility requirements. Only applications submitted by eligible applicants that meet all other requirements will be evaluated, scored, and rated by a peer review panel. Peer reviewers' ratings and any resulting recommendations are advisory only. In addition to peer review ratings, considerations may include past performance, geographic distribution, regional balance, policy priorities, and available funding.

After the peer review is finalized, a financial review of all potential discretionary awards and cooperative agreements is conducted to evaluate the fiscal integrity and financial capability of applicants; examine proposed costs to determine if the budget and budget narrative accurately explain project costs; and determine whether costs are reasonable, necessary, and allowable under applicable Federal cost principles and agency regulations.

All final grant award decisions will be made by the OVW Director, who may also give consideration to past performance, geographic distribution, regional balance, funding availability, and policy priorities when making awards.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

There are a number of terms that are used in the solicitation that may not be familiar to you. OVW has created this Glossary to help you understand some of these terms.

Advisory Committee: A committee made up of women from the tribal community/communities that will be served by the proposed project. Ideally, these women should either be survivors of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, or stalking, or advocates who have worked with survivors of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault or stalking. The committee should provide advice and guidance to the tribal government on how to deliver services to victims that meet their needs.

Authorized Designee: An organization that submits an application for funding on behalf of a Federally recognized tribe. For example, a nonprofit, nongovernmental Indian victim services organization, a nonprofit, nongovernmental tribal domestic violence or sexual assault coalition, a faith-based, or community-based organization, or a tribal police department may act as the authorized designee of a tribe.<sup>5</sup>

Authorizing Official: An individual who is authorized to accept grant awards on behalf of your tribe or organization.

Award Period: The length of time that you will have to spend the money if you receive a grant award. The award period for the Grants to Indian Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program is 36 months.

Current Grantee: Any tribe, organization, or tribal consortium that has at least one active grant award that has not been closed-out from any OVW grant program.

Federally recognized Indian Tribe: A tribe, band, pueblo, nation or other organized group or community of Indians, including any Alaska Native village or regional or village corporation, that is recognized as eligible for the special programs and services provided by the United States to Indians because of their status as Indians.

Indian Victim Services Provider: A nonprofit, nongovernmental victim services organization whose primary mission is to provide assistance to victims of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, or stalking. The staff and leadership of the organization must include individuals who have a demonstrated history of providing assistance to American Indian or Alaska Native victims of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, or stalking.

Internal Review: OVW Program Specialists will review each application received in response to this solicitation. There are three goals for this review: (1) to determine if the applicant has satisfied all of the eligibility requirements for this program; (2) to determine if the application is complete; and (3) to determine whether Current Grantees seeking continuation funding have accomplished the goals and objectives of their previously funded projects and whether they have substantially complied with the administrative and reporting requirements for their current grant awards.

Letter of Exemption: An Indian victim services provider or a tribal domestic violence or sexual assault coalition that is acting as the authorized designee of a Federally recognized Indian Tribe should submit a letter of exemption instead of a letter of support with its application for funding.

Letter of Intent: The purpose of this letter is to let OVW's Tribal Unit know that your tribe might submit an application for funding. You can still submit an application for funding if you do not submit a letter of intent. Submitting a letter does not obligate you to submit an application for funding.

Letter of Support: A Federally recognized Indian Tribe or a consortium of Federally recognized Indian tribes must submit a letter of support from either: (1) a nonprofit, nongovernmental Indian victim services provider; (2) a tribal domestic violence or sexual assault coalition; or (3) a committee of Indian women from the community that will be served by the grant-funded project.

New Applicant: A tribe or organization that has never before received funding from OVW, or a tribe or organization that has received OVW grant funding in the past, but that does not currently have an active OVW grant award.

Non-Custodial Parent: The parent who does not have primary custody of the children.

Peer Review: After the staff from OVW's Tribal Unit has read and reviewed the grant applications, an outside panel of experts with knowledge of Indian country issues, tribal customs and traditions, and violence committed against Indian women, will read and score the applications.

Tribal Coalition: A nonprofit, nongovernmental, grassroots organization created for the purpose of addressing domestic violence or sexual assault committed against American Indian or Alaska Native women.

Tribal Consortium: Either (1) an application for funding submitted by one Federally recognized Indian tribe for the benefit of at least one other Federally recognized Indian tribe; or (2) an application for funding submitted by an existing formal tribal consortium such as an inter-tribal council, or health care consortium. Each member of the consortium must be a Federally recognized Indian Tribe.

Please Note: Further clarification of the application guidelines and policies for the Grants to Indian Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program may be found in the Guide to Understanding the Grants to Indian Tribal Governments and Sexual Assault Services Program. The Guide is available for download from the OVW website at <http://www.ovw.usdoj.gov/applicants.htm>.
